THE BURLBURT CASE.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Evening Star. LONDON, April 18.-In the case of Evelyr versus Hurlburt today Mr. Candy, representing the plaintiff, continued his address to the jury. He asserted that the defendant had deliberately invented the story that he had been introduced to the plaintiff by his secretary, part of a ferret. The plaintiff had never a part of a ferret. The plaintiff had never seen the alleged secretary, and the only evidence that such a person existed was the oath of the defendant and certain alleged letters. The defendant would surely have called some one to prove Murray's existence if he had been able to do so. "If," concluded Mr. Candy, "the plaintiff had, as counsel for the defense asserted, written up her diary for the purposes of this trial she would not have used ordinary secount books."

Mr. Justice Cave began his charge to the jury

IT BROKE UP IN A ROW.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 18.-The closing scenes of the commercial congress were quite gates to leave the hall. In fact there was a regular stampede and in less than five minutes the hall was almost empty. A cross-fire of talk was indulged in until late in the evening and finally a motion to adjourn sine die was adopted. Previous to the adjournment the following was adopted as a substitute for the minority report on the tariff.

"We favor neither free trade nor the exclusion of trade, but favor a tariff for revenue limited to the needs of the government economically administered, so levied as to cover differences in the industrial conditions between this and other countries, but not to create or to foster monopolies."

Plates for 450 were laid and every chair was occupied. The banquet was served at 9:30 o'clock and it was 3 o'clock this morning before the hour of departure arrived. The following are the toasts and those who responded:

"The American Government—Not the Oldest, but the Best," Hon. Chas. F. Crisp of Georgia;

"Our Sister States," Hon. T. Dwight Thatcher of Kansas; "Young Men in Politics," Hon. W. J. Bryan of Nebraska; "Past, Present and Future of the Universe," Hon. John M. the liberal member of parliament against whom 2 a warrant was issued on the charge of having procured a girl for immoral purposes, was arrested today. At the time the charge was made against .Page 16 Capt. Verney he was traveling on the continent. When he reached Italy he heard that the English court had issued a warrant for his arrest, and he telegraphed to Mr. Matthews, the home secretary, stating that he would return to England as quickly as possible to meet the accusation made against him. He immediately started upon his return and reached London this morning. He was taken into custody as soon as his presence in the city was known to the police.

Capt. Verney was taken to the Bow street re-known to the police.

Capt. Verney was taken to the Bow street police court, where he was arraigned and formally charged with attempting to procure Nellie Beckett, a governess, for immoral purposes. The prisoner looked pale and careworn and his appearance was so changed that it was almost impossible for his friends to recognize him. Miss Beckett was present in the court room and detailed at length the tactics that had been adopted to inveigle her into wrong doing. She stated that she was seeking a position to instruct children and that she watched the advertisements in the papers of people who wanted the services of a governess. She finally saw one which offered a position she thought would suit her and she answered it. She received a reply, with instructions to call at a certain house. She went to the place and saw the woman who had inserted the advertisement.

Miss Beckett further said she refused to accede to Capt. Verney's solicitations. The woman who had prevailed upon her to go to Paris, and who turned out to be a procuress named Madame Floreat, who had accompanied her to Paris, gave her the sum of $10 and in addition her fare back from Paris to London.
